Book Reviews

Hi!

It's Maddi here. I'm a TCK (third culture kid), which may sound cool but means I have lived most of my life outside of my home country of Australia, where I was born. I am fortunate to have attended schools in Singapore, Malaysia, India, Bahrain and now I go to English College in Dubai.

So you've probably gathered that I like books - I LOVE books and love to talk about them. I also have a passion for musical theatre and acting, especially improv. I also love to sing and play the guitar and enjoy live performing.

Animals are the best. My BFF (best furry friend) is my Shitzu, Luke. and I adore horse riding.

Love, Maddi XXX

What I Love

WRITING

I am the author of 'Elements of Straefor', a fantasy novel for young people that follows the adventures of Sylvia, who possesses special powers, as she escapes her evil father and other people out to get her.

SPEAKING

I love to share my passion for reading, writing, and performing arts. I enjoy inspiring others with my story and my journey towards becoming a published author and living my dreams.

MUSIC

I enjoy playing guitar, singing, and participating in local events and shows.

My work at NOVELGURL.COM

NOVELGURL.COM is where I talk about all the things I love. I review books and share stories of my own. I talk about my own challenges, like having severe allergies, and share my latest writing works, including my books. Novelgurl.com is for anyone who wants a fun and safe space to visit to feel inspired to read, write, and love life!
